Vu-us is very proud to present their newest release, Interconnected - "Current Flow".

Interconnected is a collaborative electronica/ idm/ experimental project between Bakis Sirros (of Parallel Worlds, Memory Geist) and Ingo Zobel (of DRON, Signalform, Self Oscillate, Data-sette).

Both guys are heavy into analogue modular systems which makes their sound very unique and organic compared to other artists in the electronica scene who hardly use any hardware anymore.

Their debut album "Current Flow" is a sonic trip where frequencies take on real life form. Each song takes you on an aural voyage to explore new worlds beyond your imagination. The opening track "Greenerblue" brings you smoothly into this new world while other tracks like "Deepestspeed" give you the impression that you are wandering around that cold surface for ages.

The design of this release might seem a bit dark first, compared to the music itself, but it represents a so familiar ally and yet so mysterious during the night, the unknown.
